DEDICATION

This, the first volume of the Alumni Bulletin of Doane Academy, is hereby dedicated to our loyal friend, Henry W. Deming, '93, who by his interest and generosity has made this publication possible.

HENRY W. DEMING

FOREWORD

Although the Academy was founded in 1831, no attempt was made to organize the alumni until two years ago. In May 1919 a graduate of the class of '11 called a group of the Doane Alumni together and discussed the advisability of forming a permanent organization for the purpose of keeping the graduates and former students in closer touch with each other and with the affairs of the Academy. All of us who know about Denison University know of its splendid Alumni Society and of the effective work it is doing for the college. Then too, the Denison Alumni Bulletin is considered as important in some homes as the plays of Shakespeare or the works of Dante, but a large number of former Academy students do not receive the Denison Alumni Bulletin and they have no way of learning what has been taking place at Doane.

At the first meeting of this small group it was decided to form an organization similar in purpose to that of the Denison Alumni Association, and, if possible, to publish an annual for the Doane Alumni. The second meeting was called to order on the morning of the Academy commencement, June 1919. The above plans were approved, and the following officers were elected: President, Karl Eschman, '11; Vice-President, Henry W. Deming, '93; Secretary-Treasurer, Eri J. Shumaker, '11.

On account of the lack of funds no bulletin was issued in 1920. In the spring of 1921 the Vice-President, Henry W. Deming, offered to finance this issue of the bulletin. It is hoped that those who read this copy will return the coupon, opposite page twenty, along with a contribution to be used for the second issue.

Certainly to any loyal Irving or Ciceronian, a report of the Contest is worth much, but you need not send "much" if every one sends a little.

Is it not possible for us to have a live alumni society for the Academy? Has not the Academy been an important factor in laying the foundation for our future?

Granville, Ohio,
July 2, 1921.

Dear Friends:

All of us are interested in the future of Doane Academy, and we are also eager to know the whereabouts of the old alumni. Where are our classmates and what have they been doing since they were graduated? By all means, fill in the information slip and mail it to us for use in our next issue.

Some of us have an allegiance to the Denison alumni organization or to that of some other college, but many of us do not. Consider the flourishing condition of even High School Alumni Associations and then determine to back the Doane Association to the limit. The annual meeting is held on the day of the Academy Commencement at 9 A.M. Plan to be there next year.

Doane Academy is to be made one of the strongest secondary schools in the country. A separate campus is planned and, to a considerable extent, separate social and academic life. It is indeed time that Doane have a separate alumni organization and that an active one.

Yours for Doane,

Karl Eschman,

President of Doane Academy Alumni Association.

THE ACADEMY IN GENERAL

The opening days of school were busy ones. There was the usual rush in registering and arranging schedules for the first semester; in finding rooms, and in meeting old and new friends.

We will never forget the one who first spoke to us when we stepped from the car, and who took our luggage while we were wondering what to do or where to go. This year was not unlike all the rest; the Y. M. C. A. was lending a helping hand to new students and the members of Cicero and Irving were enthusiastically pledging and inviting new men to their respective societies.

At Coach Rupp's first call for football practice he found a large group of "gridiron warriors" eager to begin work. "Art" Kneibler was elected captain and practice progressed rapidly.

Among the interesting social events we should not forget to mention the Reception in Doane Gymnasium, the Adelphian Party, and the Cicero and Irving Fall Extras.

After a successful football season, our attention in athletics was centered upon basket ball. Under the direction of our faithful coach the "Little Reds" again lived up to their name by winning most of their games. They were "Runners Up" in the Western Reserve Tournament at Cleveland.

Perhaps the most important event of the school year was the Cicero-Irving contest in which the usual spirit was shown. Each society was confident to the last that it would win. The result of a close contest was in favor of Irving.

The usual good work in the class room was maintained during the year, and we look back on our work with pleasure, knowing that we have spent a most profitable year in Doane.

CICERO

The Cicero Literary Society, which is the oldest literary society in the Academy, was founded in 1860. For more than fifty years it has been the means of furnishing a good foundation in literary work for many Doane men. Many alumni, looking back upon their life in the Academy, have said that the work in the society meant more to them than anything else during their entire Academy life.

Besides the regular meetings the society enjoys several social stunts during the year. The biggest of these is the Fall Extra which takes place a short time before the Christmas holidays, and the Annual Banquet which is held in the spring after the contest.

Owing to crowded conditions of Denison University, Cicero gladly gave up her Hall to be made into recitation rooms, and has moved to Cleveland Hall where she shares the room occupied by the Franklin Literary Society.

The Fall Extra of nineteen twenty was the best social affair held in Doane for some time

Although we lost the contest this year, we are coming back strong next spring.

IRVING

The Irving Literary Society, founded in 1883, has completed thirty-eight years of useful service in the Academy. The results of the annual contests, which speak well for Irving, have been made possible because of the high standard of work done in the society.

The literary work during this year has been unusually good. Fine programs have been given each week, and the meetings have been well attended. The society now occupies the room in Cleveland Hall which was formerly Calliope Hall. It has been remodeled, making it an ideal place for the meetings of the society.

A fall party was given in November and was greatly enjoyed by the members and their friends. The "Extra," which rivaled all other stunts of the year, was held on January fifteenth.

Irving won the contest this year by a score of 7-3, winning the debate, essay, and declamation. With the loss of only one contest man and with the same old "pep" Irving will put up a pretty stiff fight for the coming contest.

THE ADELPHIAN SOCIETY

We began the activities of our society this year by initiating eleven new members, and according to their report the initiation ceremonies were so distinctive that they will never be forgotten. Our next big event was the Halloween masquerade which was held in Doane Gymnasium. Here we spent an enjoyable evening in contests and games, and were served with good old-fashioned refreshments. Many of us were also entertained by the Gypsy girl who attempted to unfold the mysteries of our future careers. The regular meetings of the society were interesting and contributed much to our social life. During the second semester the girls were preparing for the annual play, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Leslie. On the evening of May 27, they presented a comedy, "The Chaperon," which was a decided success. The proceeds of the play were given to the Doane Athletic Association. While we Seniors regret that we can never again be active members in the Adelphian Society, those who remain are looking forward to a happy and profitable time next year.

THE CICERO-IRVING CONTEST

The Cicero-Irving Contest for 1921 was held in Recital Hall on the evening of April twentieth. For about two weeks before the contest the members of both societies were very enthusiastic over the outcome and were hoping that their respective sides would win.

As the time for the contest approached the interest and enthusiasm became very keen on both sides. The night of the contest was ideal and Recital Hall was filled with people from the town and college as well as from the Academy. For about half an hour before the first number the two societies gave their different yells. As I looked at them, and then at the girls dressed in the colors of the society which they represented, I was proud of Doane and of her school spirit, for all the literary productions were excellent and the rivalry between the two societies was most wholesome.

The first number and also the most important one was the debate. The question was "Resolved that the Philippines should have their independence by 1925." The affirmative side was taken by David Witte, Cicero, and the negative side by Homer Shide, Irving. The debate was won by Irving. Then came the oration, which was won by Ernest Smith, Cicero. The next two numbers, the essay and declamation, were both won by Irving. This gave the contest to Irving as they won three out of the four productions.

After the contest both societies gathered in their halls and enjoyed the remainder of the evening in eating, giving their yells, and making plans for the next contest.

DOANE FOOTBALL SEASON 1920

The team of 1920, with "Art" Kneibler as captain, had a very successful season despite the handicaps of injuries to four of our best players.

The season opened with a game with East High at Columbus, and Doane was defeated 7-0. The following week was devoted to preparation for the game with Rio Grande. The team lacked the dash and spirit of the Columbus game, and they only succeeded in holding their visitors to a tie score. The Cambridge game at Cambridge was one of the hard luck games. The "Little Reds" fought hard but they were able to put the ball across the line only once. Cambridge also scored one touchdown. Doane failed to kick goal, and thereby lost by one point. The next week the team journeyed to Mt. Vernon, where they showed their real fighting spirit, and won by the score of 7-0. One of our best players, Jewell, was injured and had to remain out of the game for the rest of the season. South High of Columbus also won from the Academy because of our failure to kick goal after the touchdowns. Coshocton suffered the worst defeat of the season by our team on their grounds. "Shorty" Keeler had his ankle dislocated and was unable to enter the game again during the season. The O. S. S. D. of Columbus played good football but were outclassed by our heavier team.

The team was all set for the annual clash with Newark High, but at the last minute the game was cancelled on account of the weather.

The following men received their D. A.'s: Kneibler, Keeler, Hla, Popka, Jewell, Trumbo, Dibble, Curtis, Springer, E. Schmitz, Owen, Speicher, Pratt, Shifflette, and T. Hundley. "Shorty" Keeler was elected to guide the 1921 eleven.

BASKET BALL 1920-1921

Coach Rupp's second basketball season was a great success and the Doane team of 1920-21 made a record which will not easily be surpassed.

The Doane men were fast passers and exceedingly good shooters. The team had a strong five man defense which confined their opponents to long shots. The members of the team worked together well, displaying fine team work, and always fought to the very last for old Doane.

The Academy lost only two out of the six scheduled games. At the Western Reserve Tournament held at Cleveland she lost the championship to Loyola High School of Cleveland by the score 17-16, defeating Shaw High School, South Euclid, and East High of Cleveland. The team also won the class championship of the University for the first time in history.

Doane Academy can well be proud of her basket ball record for 1920-21.

DOANE WON ANNUAL TRIANGULAR TRACK MEET

Defeated North High of Columbus and Newark High in Meet May Twenty-first.

The Little Reds, in their first track meet of the season, defeated North High of Columbus in the relay race, winning the annual triangular meet between Doane, North, and Newark, by scoring 53 points to North's 51. Newark scored 31 points.

From the 100 yard dash it looked like a victory for North High; but with the score 43 for North, 35 for Doane, and 22 for Newark, the Academy captured 1st, 2nd, and 4th places in the half mile. This placed them two points behind the leaders. Bergold of the Academy then made his finest jump of the season, leaping 18 feet, 6 inches, thereby taking first and placing the Little Reds two points ahead of North. From this event until the mile relay (in which Newark did not enter a team), the leaders struggled for first place until Jewell of Doane crossed the tape and won a victory for the Academy.

The individual stars of the meet were Hla of the Academy who made 13 points by winning first in the 880 and Javelin, 2nd in the discus, and 3rd in the 220 low hurdles. Jewell of Doane was second high man with 9 points, Theuren of North was 3rd with 8 points.

AN IMPORTANT NOTICE

All Doane alumni are invited to make their headquarters, while in Granville, at the Academy Club, which is situated on the corner of Cherry and Broadway—opposite the Conservatory.

GREATER DOANE

Doane has had a great past and will have a greater future if the plans for "Greater Denison" are carried out. The important features in these plans so far as Doane is concerned are the independent corporate existence of the school and a new and enlarged plant. We are to have our separate Board of Trustees, an increased endowment, and a new campus.

Our new location will be the present Shepardson College campus and the block to the east. Cleveland Hall will be exchanged for our present main building, and three new dormitories will be built for men. A new recitation and administration building will also be erected, as well as a dining hall for men. We will make provision for three hundred students.

The value of Doane in the eyes of the great Baptist denomination is shown by the approval of the grant of a half-million dollars from the "Hundred Million Drive." This will provide for the new buildings and increase our endowment to the point where we shall be self-supporting.

Doane Academy lives and will be strengthened because the institution meets a real need in the educational life of the denomination. The work being done here stays close to the purpose of the Founders. Doane is furnishing a noble quota to the ranks of Christian leadership.

Let all Doane men and women begin to make their loyalty and pride in the school distinct, and be ready to support and cherish Doane as Lawrenceville and Exeter students stand by and love their schools.

True greatness does not consist in buildings and campus. The spiritual ideals maintained by the school and the response to these, the sentiment carried away by alumni that will react in their attitude to the school afterward, and their interest and enthusiasm are the most potent factors in this true greatness.
